

Phylogly recruits another Cleveland exec

By LESLIE STROOPE

10:49 am, October 10, 2006

Phylogly Inc. has tapped another Cleveland executive for its team.

The Santa Clara, Calif.-based technology company has appointed Randy Markey, co-founder, principal and managing partner of Capital Acceleration Partners LLC, as chairman of Phylogly's board of directors. Mr. Markey also will chair the board's compensation and governance committees, according to a Phylogly statement.

Former Capital Acceleration operating partner Tim Mueller left the Cleveland-based firm that helps develop entrepreneurs and companies to become Phylogly's chief executive officer in June. Mr. Mueller had been Phylogly's president since November 2005.

Phylogly develops and markets equipment that increases data delivery speeds over digital subscriber lines (DSL) and is expected to help telephone companies compete with cable companies.

PRINTED FROM:

<http://www.crainscleveland.com/apps/pbcs.dll/article?AID=/20061010/FREE/61010005&template=printart>

© 2008 Crain Communications Inc.
